WINEMAKING

Vinification follows the traditional method for white wines and fermentation is carried out slowly, with no skins, in stainless steel vats at 16°C controlled temperature. Fining is followed by cold-stabilisation, after which the wine is filtered and bottled. The whole process is done with extreme care, so as consistently to ensure Mateus unique style, colour and freshness.

STORE

The bottle should be kept in a dry and cool place, sheltered from light.

SERVE

Mateus Rosé Original should be served chilled in a flute or in a tulip-shaped red-wine glass. Serve ideally between 6°C-8°C.

Mateus Rosé Original also goes very well with light meals, several types of fish and seafood, white meat, grilled dishes and salads. Its unique characteristics make it also ideal with pasta and other Italian cuisine and to accompany magnificently several styles of Oriental cuisine – Chinese, Japanese, Vietnamese and Thai.
